WOMAN SHOT IN THE STREETS OF CHINO

Fearing a possible lynching following one of the most brutal wife murders in San Bernardino County in years, Constable W. J. Tebo of Chino Saturday evening sent an emergency call to the sheriff's office requesting that Sheriff W. A. Shay come to Chino, where Ramon Monleon, 42 years old, and a native of Spain, was held in jail. The body of Mrs. Marie Monleon, 42, his wife, and also a native of Spain, was in a Chino morgue. She was shot in the face twice, one bullet passing through her brain, and her body was picked up from the middle of a dusty Chino street.

The murder came as a climax to a domestic disagreement which it had been planned should culminate in a divorce rather than a tragedy. The murder was committed at 5:30 Saturday afternoon in the middle of Central avenue, Chino, a half-mile from the center of the city. Following a quarrel at the Monleon home the wife started to town to cause her husband's arrest. It is said, and Monleon followed, overtaking her in the street a short distance from the home. He is declared to have shot twice at close range, both bullets passing through her head. The woman fell to the street, where the body remained until neighbors picked it up, taking it to the home of Dr. Elgar Reed, Chino physician, from which place it was removed to the morgue.

Friend Arrested

Monleon was arrested by Constable Tebo shortly after the tragedy. With the arrival of Sheriff Shay and Deputies Ernest Leffen and Jesus Amerias, Jose Lopez, declared to have been the cause of the Monleon domestic troubles, was also placed under arrest. Lopez will be held for investigation. Both men were taken to the county jail.

The dead woman leaves four children, all girls, the oldest being 13. They saw their mother shot.

Lopez, who is declared by Monleon to be the cause of his domestic difficulties, has been known to the Monleon family for two years, having been a boarder in their home. Six months ago Monleon left Chino to accept work in Kern County. Believing his wife to be too friendly with Lopez, he ordered her, when he left, to have nothing more to do with the man and not to have him about the house, Monleon says. The husband returned to Chino Saturday. He immediately became suspicious that all was not well in his household and blamed Lopez.

Seeks Divorce

His suspicion precipitated a dispute with his wife and resulted in both going to the office of A. O. Dillon, Chino attorney, to make arrangements for a divorce, the understanding being that Mrs. Monleon would marry Lopez. A disagreement over a division of property prevented the perfection of divorce plans and the two left the attorney's office with the understanding that they would return later. At 4 o'clock Monleon returned to Dillon's office, requesting that the attorney attempt to make an immediate sale of his property, consisting of his home and an acre of land.

Monleon returned home and is declared to have attacked his wife, striking her in the head and face. She ran from the house and Monleon followed her to the yard, where he is alleged to have continued his attack upon her person. Jean Juareguy, a neighbor, parted them and Mrs. Monleon started to run toward Chino. Monleon again followed, according to witnesses, overtook her and killed her.

William Vernon, John Mann, Ted Auman and two friends from the College of Mines wanted to come to California and owing to the floods about Pueblo trains were not running. Buying two cars, the boys started West overland and arrived Sunday night. When William Vernon drove into the gate at home his father didn't know him for the tan, grease and dirt, but after the boys experienced a good old-fashioned bath Kirk Vernon enjoyed hearing them relate their experiences along the road. The cars were of a dilapidated type, but they carried them safely to California.

The last open meeting before the Summer season will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday evening and members of the Chamber are urged to be present, as S. W. Allen, forest supervisor for the Angeles division, will give a talk on the prevention and control of fires. The committee has arranged a most interesting evening, and members are urged to not only come themselves but to bring their friends with them.

H. D. Dreisbach of the Colton Courier was in Upland Sunday.

NEW PROHIBITION ORDINANCE SCANNED

Study of the proposed new prohibition ordinance for San Bernardino County was taken up by the Board of Supervisors yesterday, but no action is due for a week or more. District Attorney T. W. Duckworth desires information as to whether the "wets" are to file a referendum petition to hold up the prohibition law adopted by the recent Legislature putting the enforcement of the Volstead act into the hands of State and county officers.

Several changes are to be made by Mr. Duckworth before the ordinance is in the shape he desires it, and the supervisors are now going over the tentative draft to determine if there is anything in it they will oppose.

The supervisors have apparently come to the conclusion the measure should be no more far-reaching than the Volstead act. Mr. Duckworth says the measure will not and can not exceed the scope of the Volstead act.

Notations for one or two incidental changes have been made by the supervisors. One clause provides for the punishment of a property owner if he has "knowledge or reason to believe" liquor is being illegally handled on his premises. The supervisors prefer this should read "knowledge or notice."

The penalty for violation is a maximum of $1000 or six months in jail, or both, and a clause for punishment of a second offense provides for a minimum fine of $100 and one month in prison. The supervisors may place the entire discretion of jail sentences in the hands of the court.

Bids in Franchise

B. T. Egerbright bid $50 for a franchise for a power line from Apple Valley to Gold Mountain and into Big Bear Valley. He is also to pay the costs of publication. The franchisees carries with it a tax of 2 per cent on the gross receipts. Four hundred dwellings in Big Bear want lights, it was said.

Big Bear City

Because traffic moves lively in Bear Valley, it has been found necessary to order 15 and 20-mile speed limit zones established. Signs will be placed at once.

Call for Bids

Order for bids to be opened on July 11 was issued in connection with the Turner avenue and Philadelphia avenue improvement projects. In the Cucamonga and Chino districts. The property owners will pay for this work.

Welfare Members Named

The supervisors appointed Mrs. J. J. Sues, prominent woman of Redlands, and J. J. Atwood of Upland, as members of the County Welfare Commission, succeeding Mrs. Berta Van de Carr of Redlands and J. M. Hartley of Upland, resigned. The Rev. H. B. Mowbray, chairman, made the recommendation.

Check Up Bills

The board issued an order yesterday that bills against the county for groceries for indigents must be itemized. Stores which have been furnishing indigents regular supplies have dropped into the habit of billing in a lump sum. The supervisors want to know what they are charging per pound for various staple articles.

Buy Jail Lot

After having for years paid rent at the rate of $2.50 a year for the lot on which stands the Daggett jail, the supervisors yesterday decided to buy the lot for $25. The Santa Fe owns the property.

CITY COUNCIL NAMES THE COMMISSION

The commission for the opening of Second avenue was appointed last night at the adjourned meeting of the City Council.

The men who will set the amounts of the assessments and decide damages in the street opening are T. R. Woodbridge, E. C. Mehl and G. A. Hanson. Following the appointment of the commission the members organized with T. R. Woodbridge as chairman and G. A. Hanson as secretary.

The first conference with the City Council will probably be held the first meeting of the council in July.

FRED WILDING, JR., DIRECTOR

HOSE HOUNDS ARE AMONG US—HIDE 'EM

Hide your hose!
In making the above admonition he is first understood that it is not addressed to fair femininity in particular, for the male division of the Upland News staff is inclined to agree with the Upland man who recently said that a woman is as old as she looks, and a man is not old as long as he looks.

But we are getting away from the subject—
In stating, hide your hose, we refer to that particular variety used in sprinkling the lawn, watering the flowers, making a quart of milk a gallon and producing home brew.

But Summer is here, and there are evidently many in the village who need hose and not having the ready cash and their credit not being good at the hose emporiums, they are going out in the night and gathering in choice bits of garden hose. Up in the North Third avenue district seems to be the stamping ground of those who need the hose worse than their neighbors.

E. R. Swan recently found his hose missing, while Sunday night the hose belonging to Amos Burkholder was taken from the front lawn. Early Monday morning the news was passed along and the women of the neighborhood were discussing the fine qualities of the man who would steal a hose, when a man wrapped up in many feet of hose started across Third avenue from the P. J. Potts home, traveling toward the M. E. Hill home.

As the subject under discussion was hose and this man had about all he could carry—well, two and two were put together—but only for the moment, for it developed that the man carrying the hose was the principal of Chaffey Union High school. It is perhaps well to explain that Mr. Hill had been using his own hose in watering the P. J. Potts vegetable garden.

Again we admonish you—Hide your hose!

IN THE SHADOW

The funeral of Fred Swain, who died last night unexpectedly from lockjaw at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Swain, Fern avenue, Ontario, will be held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from Draper's chapel, Ontario. The service will be in charge of Elder Van Fleet of the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints, assisted by Evangelist F. J. Pitts and the Rev. R. C. Stone of the Upland Presbyterian Church.

A FEW HELPFUL HINTS

Marshmallows can be cut easily if scissors are first dipped into ice cold milk and not dried.

Washing in coffee will clean alpaca.

If raisins stick in the package, heating them in the oven will loosen them.

If hash is stirred with fork it will not become lumpy as it is apt to do if stirred with a spoon.

Sandpapering the baby's new shoes before putting them on prevents many a fall on polished floors.

Lime-water will sweeten jars and jugs that soap and water won't cleanse.

Thick cloth from old overcoats make excellent holders for hot dishes. Tar paper covers are excellent for mouse-holes, as mice do not like the smell of tar.

Some of the selling arguments for motor-cars hit you almost as hard as the motor-cars do.

ALL SET FOR THE FAMOUS JOY NIGHT

Evidently the City Council selected the right week for the first concert of the Summer series, for ideal weather is here and indications are that it has come to stay.

Director Wilding and his band have spent the Winter months in rehearsing many new musical selections, and throughout the series will present the latest in band music. The parking space about the band shell has been painted, that cars may be more effectively parked. Last year many motorists so placed their cars that they took up the space of two machines, and with the new plan more people will be able to place their automobiles within hearing distance of the band.

Thursday night's concert will contain one feature which those who enjoy band music will appreciate, for Messrs. Burt and Wilding are to play a duet written especially for cornets. As both Mr. Burt and Mr. Wilding are cornetists of rare ability, the rendition of "The Pearls" will be looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

The Legion Dance
Another feature of Upland's Joy Night will be the American Legion dance in Ruedy Hall, with Forsman's orchestra supplying the musical strains.

At the Colonial
For Thursday night the Colonial presents George Melford's production, "The Jackins," with Monte Blue in the leading role, while the producer will be "Patty" Arbuckle in "Moonshine."

At the Soda Fountains
Special dishes are being prepared at the soda fountains and confectioners of the city, for if the evening be warm the demand for ice cream and cooling drinks will be big. As this is Upland's first Joy Night, an exceptionally large crowd will be present.

"BEHOLD THE MAN" LAST TIME TONIGHT

It is a very interesting fact that the characters in the play, "Behold the Man," being played for the last time tonight at the Colonial theater, are the same that took part in the famous Bavarian Passion Play for so many years. The man representing the Christ was carefully trained from boyhood for the part, and the character has been kept in the same family for generations, and the same with the Virgin Mary and other chief characters. As the man portraying the Christ was killed during the war, with many of the people who took part in the play every year, there will be no Oberammergau for many years, perhaps a generation, as the people will have to be trained from small children for the sacred characters, so that those fortunate enough to have seen the film production given here this week are to be congratulated. The feeling of reverence and awe with which the general public viewed the picture attests to the genuine portrayal of those taking part, and save for one or two flippant remarks by some young people, would surely never have made them if they had thought for one moment what they were saying, the people of Upland by their words of commendation, appreciated the production. Those who have not yet seen it should make an effort to attend tonight.

SUMMER'S HERE, SO THE VACATIONIST

Summer's here, and those who have been looking for an excuse to go to the seaside now have it.

But mere man is doomed to disappointment. For instance, take those far-seeing chaps who, because of the way their lady-love was dressing during the wintry days of last December, made a date for June—the styles have changed and before Summer's over the gentler sex is going to wear clothes longer both top and bottom.

But the bathing suits haven't changed much in style, simply because the modern suit is of some value and lends to the enjoyment of swimming, and although father may need his sun glasses about here, not so at the beach.

Mountain resorts will soon be crowded to the limit, and Sunday saw hundreds of automobile parties en route to Camp Baldy, while Lytle Creek and all resorts on the Rim of the World are making reservations for those who enjoy the mountain retreats for their Summer vacation.

Down at the beach resorts it has been a cold, raw Summer to date, for owners of apartment houses, concessions, etc., haven't been able to attract enough people to pay to count 'em. But the dull season for them is evidently over, for Old Sol is doing his best these days, and with the thermometer playing around the 100 mark it is now the proper thing to be making preparations to rest a while and live away to a Summer resort, where you can sleep in cramped quarters, short on fresh air; where you eat in stuffy restaurants providing poor meals; where when you want to sleep every body else is tearing about in mad fashion, and when you want to be up and doing every one else wants you to keep still so they can sleep.

This Summer vacation is a great idea, but there's one nice thing about it. After it's all over and everybody is satisfied, we can come back to our comfortable homes and enjoy that good, old-fashioned rest which you can get no place else but in your own home, sweet home.

WHOLESALE ESCAPE FOILED BY SHERIFF

Foiling the most carefully planned attempt at a wholesale jail delivery in the history of San Bernardino County, Sheriff W. A. Shay and Jailer J. H. Berry yesterday morning prevented a plot of six prisoners to escape from the county jail—a plot of which the sheriff and jailer had known for two weeks, but had given no hint of it because they hoped to catch the prisoners in the act of making their expected escape.

The prisoners—all of whom were confined in the felony tank—had cut a hole 18 inches in diameter through the steel wall of the tank. They would probably have made their break last night but for the interference of the officers early in the day. Their plans were apparently complete.

The following men, according to the officers, were implicated in the plot:

Albert Wilson, charged with highway robbery.
"Fleet" Thompson, charged with burglary.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS AT CHAFFEY

Dean B. M. Woods of the University Summer session, Los Angeles branch, was the principal speaker at the first assembly which was held last evening.

Before the address of the evening Director S. Earle Blakeslee of the Chaffey music department presented a number of his pupils of the junior college in a half hour of music.

The double sextet numbers and the piano solos by Miss Winifred West were appreciated. Mr. Hill, who presided, promised that musical programs would be offered Monday evenings throughout the session.

Dean Woods, in his address, urged each hearer to find his problem and strive to master it. He welcomed the students here to the larger fellowship of the combined University sessions, where thousands are enrolled.

Prof. Griffin was introduced, but insisted that he needed no word of introduction to the agricultural teachers of the State. The applause that greeted him told better than words how the teachers of California feel toward Mr. Griffin.

E. W. Fischer of Chaffey, representing the comptroller here, made some detail announcements. Of special interest are the projected week-end excursions into the mountains nearby.

Principal Merton E. Hill closed the meeting with a cordial welcome for every student from the school and the community.

Director Griffin announced the completion of the first hundred in registration yesterday. A few are included who have made arrangements for admission, but are still on the way to Chaffey.

This registration betters the figures for any previous year, and is one indication of many that point to a very successful term. Practically all classes were organized, with a good attendance yesterday, and the work is in full swing today.

A new daily newspaper has invaded this field, the "Summer Dings at Chaffey," the official paper of the University of California Agricultural Summer session. The paper is issued in mimeograph form and contains in newsy form the record of the previous day and announcement of coming programs and events of Summer session affairs.

Today's issue gives details of the plans for week-end outings in the mountains for students. The campus of the Presbyterian, Bethel Congregational and Ontario Methodist churches have been reserved for these trips and are offered the University students without charge.

A meeting is being held this afternoon to arrange an athletic program for the Summer session. The plunge, tennis courts, athletic field and other equipment will be used in rounding out the good time the students are having in classroom and field work.

J. B. Lillard, State superintendent of agricultural education, arrived this morning and will share in the instruction and conferences of the coming weeks.

A tent city has sprung up on the campus to provide shelter for students who are not otherwise provided with rooms.

Illustrated Lecture Tonight
The public is invited to share in the pleasure of the illustrated lecture by R. C. Stone tonight at 8 o'clock in Chaffey auditorium. He will tell of the organization and work of the Boy Scouts of the Chaffey district. The talk will be illustrated with scores of colored mountain pictures.

Mr. Stone was the first man to receive from the State Board of Education a certificate to teach scouting activities, and his work in this community has attracted notice far outside the borders of California.

Walter A. Schelden, charged with operating a still.
Labrado Perez, charged with forgery.
Alonso Mendosa, charged with burglary.
Augustine Alvarez, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

That the men used a saw, or more than one saw, in cutting through the steel wall of the tank was established by the officers, although a thorough search of the jail did not reveal any implement that might have been used.

Of the six men in the tank Wilson and Thompson are declared to be especially desperate criminals.

There will be an exhibition dance staged by pupils of Mabel Rockwell, and the evening's entertainment will wind up with a balloon shower amidst a battle of serpentine.

GOSSIP TO BE TABOOED

IN A Western city a branch of the W. C. T. U. recently took a new pledge, signed by all of its members and passed on to other branches, to women's clubs, to parent teacher associations and to church groups. This is the statement:

"We pledge ourselves not to repeat an ill story about any young girl, and if any woman seems desirous to regain her respectability, we promise to aid by word and in every way we can."

It certainly is an excellent pledge. Temperance in idle personal talk is greatly needed today. Although women are supposed to hold all the records for this sort of thing, men, too, could take a similar pledge. For general human requirements, it ought to be changed to read:

"We pledge ourselves not to repeat an ill story about ANY ONE."

There is an interest in the affairs of others which is normal and friendly. To wish to rejoice in another's pleasure or good fortune or to share in his sorrow is natural and human. But over-indulgence in this interest, like any other over-indulgence, too frequently leads to serious trouble. Exaggeration and malice creep in; the wrong thing is emphasized or a falsehood is told, and the ball of evil gossip is started rolling. A good test for personal talk is to answer these questions about it to oneself. Is it true? Is it kind? Unless it is, it should remain untold.

A phase of malicious gossip which is frequently overlooked is the injury it does to the one who utters it. The person gossiped about, if conscious of the falsity of the gossip and of his own integrity and self-respect, may rise above the rumors and refute them with dignity and cheerfulness. But the gossip, whether the tale be true or false, lowers his own self-respect, cheapens himself in the eyes of all decent observers, makes himself the target for similar shots and loses some of the fineness of character which counts most in all human relationships.

God deliver us from all species of gossipers—male and female!

When a woman doesn't know her own mind it is time she sought an introduction.

RECIPROCITY FAVORED
PRESIDENT HARDING strongly favors inclusion of reciprocal provisions in the new tariff bill. He has indicated to Chairman Fordney of the House ways and means committee that he approves the plan to give the Executive power to bargain with other nations with respect to reciprocal tariff arrangements.

As to the details of the scheme the President is not committed. He favors the broad principle of barter and reciprocity. He believes that the United States ought to open its markets to countries that will not open their markets to the United States.

The reciprocal provisions as drafted by experts for the House ways and means committee fail to go as far in the direction of a bargaining tariff as has been urged upon the committee by the National Foreign Trade Council. President Harding, so far as he has stated his position, may be said to be in favor of the draft now before the committee.

A point of difference on the proposition relates to whether reciprocal agreements shall be subject to ratification by Congress or not. The National Foreign Trade Council has urged that the President be given broad powers, without ratification by Congress, to bargain with other nations, granting concessions below prescribed rates of duty or imposing penalties. The maximum concessions and penalties would be within a percentage limitation fixed by Congress.

President Harding's views in favor of reciprocal provisions are being used by members of the ways and means committee in support of the proposed reciprocal lumber duty against finished lumber imported from Canada.

Importation of cheap foreign fabrics makes the survival of the fit very doubtful.

A GOOD SUGGESTION
THE broad highways of Southern California will be among those to be bordered with trees planted to perpetuate the memory of men and women who served during the world war, if the plan fostered by the American Legion is carried out. Recommendation that the plan be urged has been made to the State department of the American Legion, as well as to all other State departments of the organization by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander. The Lincoln highway will be the first to benefit from the project.

The idea to line the great highways of the nation with trees, each in memory of one ex-service man or woman, originated with the Illinois department of the Legion, and has received the support of high federal and State officials and the press of the Middle West.

It is proposed to plant 4,000,000 trees of types recommended by the forestry bureau and set out in accordance with the advice of the bureau. To each tree will be affixed a plate bearing the name and military record of an ex-service man or woman.

The Lincoln and Dixie highways would be the first to be so treated, according to the present plan. Ultimately it is hoped to honor every veteran of the world war with a tree.

The free traders who insist that the world war has so changed conditions that tariff theories which were sound in 1914 are no longer defensible, still hang to the doctrines they preached before the war.

IMMIGRATION LIMITS

FIGURES showing the number of immigrants who can be admitted to this country during the fiscal year beginning July 1 under the Dillingham percentage immigration law have been announced by W. W. Husband, Commissioner of Immigration.

The list is complete, it is stated, with the exception of figures for Turkey and Southern Asia.

Under the law 77,206 immigrants will be allowed to enter from the United Kingdom during the fiscal year; from Norway, 12,116; Sweden, 19,956; Denmark, 5,644; the Netherlands, 3,602; Belgium, 1,557; Luxembourg, 92; France, 5,692; Switzerland, 3,745; Germany, 68,039; Danzig, 285; Finland, 3,890; Africa, 120; Portugal, 2,269; Spain, 663; Italy, 42,021; Russia, 34,247; Austria, 7,544; Hungary, 5,635; Roumania, 7,414; Bulgaria, 391; Greece, 3,286; Czechoslovakia, 14,269; Yugoslavia, 6,405; Albania, 287; Fiume, 71; Poland, with Western Galicia, 25,890; Eastern Galicia, 5,781; Australia, 271, and New Zealand, 50.

Reports show that of the French military class of 1921 more than 75 per cent consists of youths 20 years of age who are fit for military service. This is a high percentage of effectiveness, and the increase is attributed to a decrease in the use of alcohol, the improved living conditions on farms and the spread of sports in France.

WATER IS MAIN COG

OF THE 200,320,128 acres of public lands now remaining in the United States, 140,562,478 acres are in the Southwestern States of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada and Utah. Of course, the greater part of this vast area is untillable, or fit only for grazing. But in the States of California and Arizona alone there are more than 2,000,000 irrigable acres that could be served with water by properly conserving the flow of the Colorado River, to say nothing of more than 1,500,000 acres in Lower California which are tributary to Southern California and which could be similarly taken care of.

In devising ways and means of providing for a greatly increasing population, the nation's foremost work is the utilization of the waters of the Colorado River.

BOLSHEVISM THE CAUSE

THE report that there are over 8,000,000 typhus cases in Russia reveals startlingly the intolerable conditions of life under Bolshevism. Typhus is a disease due primarily to filth. It can never prevail where the laws of sanitation are properly observed. That it should be sweeping wholesale over Russia is an unanswerable indictment of the regime which has undone at a stroke the work of centuries of progress. Russia was never as advanced in sanitation as most of the other nations of Europe. But in the general breakdown of law and order, regulations designed to protect the health of the community were naturally the first thing to go. Indeed, when the environment for the individual becomes anarchic it is practically impossible to enforce them.

It was only the enthusiasts incapable of sober reflection who ever believed that the Bolshevik theory could lead to anything less than a relapse into barbarism. Abas, Bolshevism!

"Business in state of convalescence," says a headline in the New York World, Democratic organ. That's the condition business always is in under a Republican national administration right after a Democratic national administration.

POOR FISH! AND OTHER FISH

In a paper published down in Arkansas we read, the other day, a bit of verse which seems worth reprinting, not because of any merit as "poetry," but because of its element of common sense. Some poetry, like some people, is strong on beauty and short on sense, while other verse, and other people, may not conform to the rules of "art," and yet be more worth while. The Arkansas paper didn't say "what day got it," which is the reason why we, in turn, can not give full credit to the one who wrote it. Here it is:

Supposin' fish don't bite at first,
What are you goin' to do?
Throw down your pole, chuck out your bait,
And say your fishin's through?
You bet you ain't! You're goin' to fish,
And fish, and fish, and wait
Until you've ketch'd a basketful
Or used up all your bait!

Suppose success don't come at first,
What are you goin' to do?
Throw up the sponge and kick yourself,
And growl, and fret, and stew?
You bet you ain't, you're goin' to fish,
And bait, and bait again,
Until success will bite your hook,
For grit is sure to win.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

There are estimated to be 3424 languages or dialects in the world? Of these, America is said to have 1624. The others are distributed: Europe, 587; Asia, 937; Africa, 276.

More people speak the English language than any other? Next come, in the order named, German, Russian, French and Spanish.

The English language is spoken by more than 150,000,000 people. It is estimated to contain approximately 700,000 words. Of these, nearly half are scientific or obsolete terms.

Shakespeare used about 15,000 different words in his writings. Milton used about 7500. Persons of superior culture are familiar with more than 5000 words. Ordinary persons know 2000 to 3000. Illiterate persons use about 300.

the Cascades, Washington

Through
of the Cascades

ON the motor road from Seattle to Tacoma and the East, the motorist passes through many points of unusual scenic interest. Lake Keechelus is one of these. It is over six miles in length, having the appearance of a great river, and is situated at an elevation of 3,000 feet in the very heart of the Cascade range.

Motorists will find this region a most enchanting country dotted with beautiful lakes and mountains and huge fir, spruce and cedar trees measuring in some instances six to eight feet in diameter.

And all along the route the motorist can get Red Crown Gasoline—the all-refinery motor fuel that insures quick starting, rapid acceleration and more power.

Success of the community nursing project, still something of a novelty in Ontario, is attested in the report for the month of May made public Saturday by Mrs. Helen Dorsett, community nurse. The report shows 80 families visited during the month and a total of 192 calls, classified as follows: Nursing, 89; infant welfare, 29; prenatal, 15; tuberculosis, 29; child welfare, 55; visits to schools, 18; home visits to school children, 102; social service calls, 100; visits to chronics, 64. Report of the work in the schools show 44½ hours devoted to that department during the month, with 465 pupils inspected by rooms, 74 by routine examination and 120 first aid and minor ailments treatments administered. Mrs. Dorsett and the community nurse committee, numbering Mrs. Geoffrey J. Fleming, J. S. Armstrong and F. H. Wallihan, will appreciate it if persons having knowledge of cases needing the services of the community nurse will call the Community Shop by telephone, the number being 543-J.

Because 11-year-old Jack Ham-mack ran away on the eve of his intended departure with his aunt, Mrs. Paul Smith, for the home of his parents in Mississippi, the lad who was found and turned over to the police Thursday after an absence of more than three days, was obliged to make the journey to his Southern home by himself. Mrs. Smith having left last Tuesday without him, Jack was placed on a Southern Pacific train bound for Hattiesburg, Miss. Friday afternoon, and unless he took a notion to run away again before reaching his destination, he should now be safely at his Southern home. Fear of threatened punishment at the hands of his parents on top of a thrashing he received for stealing some buttons and other trifles from his aunt, is said to have been responsible for Jack's unwillingness to return home.

To discover that a perfectly good storage battery had been stolen from a motor car belonging to his father, A. E. Pratt, well known Monte Vista district rancher, which he had left standing on Euclid avenue while attending an entertainment, was the discovery the latter part of the week by Cecil Pratt. Young Pratt was able to borrow a battery with which to make the trip home. The loss has been reported to the police.

The winning streak of Ontario's baseball team struck a snag Sunday when it met defeat at the hands of Chino by a score of 6 to 5. The game was a snappy one and held the interest of a large gathering of fans at a high pitch. The decision of the umpire, however, did not meet with the entire satisfaction of the crowd.

KNEW NOTHING OF COMFORT

Citizens of the Middle Ages Lived in
What Today Would Properly
Be Called Pigsties.

In following the evolution of homes from those of ancient times to those of the Middle Ages we are forced to the conviction that in this, as in other matters of culture, there was a decided retrograde movement. The medieval home certainly left much to be desired both in the way of art and comfort. Despite this fact it is regarded by many as the ideal home, and, indeed, is the starting point of our own present system.

The truth is that in the face of the showy effect of the knight's retinue, of his feasts and banquets and the richly adorned apparel of the lords and ladies; despite the spacious halls and colossal edifices, we are constrained to believe that life in the homes of those days was nothing less than deplorable.

Apparently there is ample reason for belief that the home in its arrangement was barely habitable and that its ornamental furniture was not especially artistic.

It tends to take away much of the studied romance of those times when we consider that in the halls of the Anglo-Saxons and other Germanic tribes the people oftentimes slept upon the same benches where they previously had eaten. In cold weather they gathered around a fire kindled upon a hearth in the middle of the baronial hall, where for want of a chimney the smoke filled the room until it finally escaped through accidental holes in the roof or through open doors and windows.—Exchange.

The Defiling Hand of Man.

It is a humiliating reflection that man, when he comes in his numbers, defiles and defaces, and makes ugly more than the wild beast. One has but to find his trail on any green place. The orange peels, the dirty and torn newspapers, the old boots, the broken crockery and utensils, have power to destroy beauty and peace and banish the Spirit of Place. When he stretches out a hand over what once was countryside, how depressing are his little houses, his clinker paths, in fields where the mole delved industriously from dawn to dark, where the lark climbed a thousand winding stairs into Heaven.—Katherine Tynan in the King's Highway.

Those Old-Time Workers.

"When I was a boy," said Mr. Cum-rox, "I worked 14 hours a day."
"No, you didn't," replied Mr. Cas-sius Chex. "My father was keeping the store you worked in. You just hung around 14 hours a day because it was a warm, comfortable place to loaf."

BASEBALL OF OTHER DAYS AND OF TODAY

As was evidenced in the baseball game between Upland and Ontario American Legion teams Homecoming Day, Upland still has the men to form a first class baseball team, for Monroe and Brady as the battery for Upland, Homecoming Day indicated that they are built of the stuff that makes for real baseball.

Of course, a lot of people here can remember when Monroe had the bat- ters all guessing, for even in his grammar school days he showed strong as a pitcher, and the Home- coming Day game only went to show that with training he could come back as in the old days. Brady is a new man among us, but as a catcher he should make a good mate for Monroe and Upland once more enter the baseball circles.

But going back to the days when Monroe was a kid watching the games played here in those days, one calls to mind Fred Wilding and Tom Anderson as the battery, with C. E. Allen, Lawrence Tucker, St. Harrington, the Bowden brothers, "Jum" Means and several others who loved baseball and played the game from the ground up.

When the Santa Fe put through its main line one or two packing houses were built here, and with the growth of the town, then called North Ontario, baseball was not only the outdoor, but the indoor sport as well, for after each game the fans played it all over again talking it over.

With considerable pride pioneers of 25 years ago will recall the coming of Santa Ana's crack team. Of course, the team came with the idea that it would wipe up the earth with North Ontario's "hick" team. But when they went home they carried the idea that you can't always tell what kind of a baseball team a four corners might put together, for they went home with the little end of the score.

Not long after that W. D. Paulin, father of Jas. Paulin, who loved baseball as only real fans love it, undertook the management of the team, and while Mr. Paulin was manager the Upland team, with the same lineup as in the former days, defeated most of the teams in this neck of the woods.

Manager Paulin challenged the San Diego team to a series of three games and, of course, the ball- tossers of the Southern city laughed heartily when they found that Upland had about 1000 people, more or less—mainly less—and so they came to the village with the idea that the score would be theirs from start to finish.

But with Wilding as catcher and Anderson in the pitcher's box the three-game series was staged, and when San Diego went home they had one game to their credit, but the Upland team had the other two, the score in all three games being of the 2-1 and 3-2 variety.

In those days ticket selling was one of the main features. Without a fence about the grounds it was necessary to persuade those attending to purchase a ticket at 25 cents. The only difference between the ticket-holders of those days and the spectators of today is that in the old days he was rolled a little tighter. Fred Anderson was generalissimo of the ticket sellers, and when his assistants were unable to loosen the two-bits from one whose inclination was to tighten down, yet witness the game, Anderson as pinch-hitter of the ticket selling bunch, was sent to the bat to get the money. Anderson admits that never but once did he fail, and the man he tackled had the first nickel his grandmother gave him.

Another point where Uplanders proved strong was in "rootin'" for the home team. There was always one at the game to shout, "You're a helluva emper!" etc., but when the score stood 2-2 in the last half of the ninth inning it took Fred Anderson and his rooters to assist in bringing home the necessary score.

With the coming of Chaffey Union High school baseball transferred itself from Upland and Ontario to the high school, and many people here can remember the days when Roy Hitt, "Newt" Nicholson, "Swan- ile" and Studebaker occupied the box and succeeded in winning what- ever had been put up to win.

But Upland still has baseball activity, and American Legion post No. 72, with a little training of its team of last Thursday could go out and win many games.

Facing Buildings With Pottery.

In a recent lecture before an English gathering Prof. Beresford Pite discussed the possibilities of ceramic products in the clothing of reinforced concrete skeleton buildings. Unlike many architects who regard traditional practice as something quite sacred, Professor Pite would throw the conventions of the past to the winds in order to meet modern developments. While admitting the structural advantages of reinforced concrete, he is not an admirer of concrete as a material for exterior surfaces, and advocates the clothing of the structural skeleton with "a garment of permanent, effective, beautiful, ceramic color, unimpaired in its variety and worth."—Scientific American.

LATIN IS FOUNDATION OF ALL

Although a Dead Language, Oregon
Professor Asserts You Find It
Wherever You Turn.

"Latin is a living force in daily life and all other studies are in overwhelming debt to it," says Prof. F. S. Dunn, dead of the department of Latin in the University of Oregon, in a bulletin which he has written for the Latin teachers in the high schools and colleges of Oregon.

"The teacher," he says, "must read English from out the Latin and Latin from out the English; must see geometry, biology and physics in Caesar; must conjure legal phrases and doc- tor's prescriptions from Cicero's orations; must flash the 'Idyls of the King' and 'Paradise Lost' and 'The Faery Queen' across the pages of Virgil; must brand every paragraph with the Romance languages and Latin America and the Philippines; must see Rome in the clock dial, in the 10-cent piece, in a decimal fraction, in the almanac, in the days of the week, in the Sunday Brurgy, in Oregon's seal, in the omnibus bill, in the ultimatum to Turkey, in an aeronaut or a submarine; in Montana or in Arizona; in Cincinnati or in Olympia; in Lucy or in Gus; in patrimony or matrimony or alimony, it matters not which, for it is all Latin, anyway, and everywhere you turn."

Canada to Develop Mussel.

Canada is about to make capital out of a substitute for the oyster which is found along the Atlantic coast, chiefly in New Brunswick. It is a mussel which is by no means a new article of diet to the people of Canada. Its delicacy of flavor and high food value have been much advertised since the establishment of government investigation and experiment. A survey of the mussel beds of the St. Croix river, which constitutes the boundary between New Brunswick and Maine, has occupied the attention of a scientist of the council for three years, and it is expected that this year will see the satisfactory conclusion of the research. The sea mussel cannot be produced in fresh water, so that there is no possibility of developing an industry in the Great Lakes. It is believed that there are possibilities, however, of the development of fresh-water clams there in the near future.

A Discrepancy.

Honey and Dear were married and went to visit Honey's parents in a little country town for their honeymoon. When Sunday came they went to church—of course. Honey was not particularly interested in the services, but he managed to stay awake. When the collection baskets started around he reached into his pocket and brought forth a nice, new, bright, shiny penny. Dear caught a glimpse of it.

"Oh, Honey, was it $5 you put in?"
"Yes, Dear," Honey answered, and congratulated himself on establishing a reputation for generosity so cheaply. Just before the benediction the parson arose and announced:
"The collection for the morning totaled $4.37."

Married life was off to a flying-start.

The Tourmaline.

The crystal, tourmaline, is capable of attracting small bits of paper and straw in much the same way as amber. This attraction is, of course, due to an electrostatic charge.

When the crystal is exposed to sunlight of a low temperature it loses its electrical charge, but regains it upon being heated again. If it has a negative charge at first, it will have a positive charge when it is reheated.

Several other precious stones exhibit phenomena along this line, but tourmaline is the most interesting and spectacular of all.

Willed Everything Away.

A lawyer in Chicago was retained by a contractor to draw up his will. The task was accomplished apparently to the satisfaction of the client, the lawyer's fee was paid, and the latter supposed, of course, that the matter had been concluded. To his great surprise, therefore, he received another call from his client the next day, who expressed his conviction that the affair had not been properly adjusted.

"Why, what's the trouble?" asked the legal light.

"Trouble enough," said the man. "I didn't sleep the whole night through for thinkin' of that will! You've fixed it so I've not left myself a chair to sit on!"—Philadelphia Ledger

WEDDING OF HUBERT MANKER TO MISS M. A. DAVIS

The marriage of Hubert Lytle Manker, second son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Manker, to Miss Myrtle Adele Davis took place at the home of the groom's parents on Second avenue, Sunday, the Rev. J. B. Toomey of the Ontario Bethel Congregational Church officiating.

Gowned in a lovely frock of Georgette crepe over satin, wearing a bridal veil fastened with orange blossoms, and carrying a shower bouquet of rosebud and maidenhair fern, Miss Davis, attended by her maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Long, entered the living room, at the far end of which was an arched window banked with asparagus fern and greenery. The Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Mildred Bost, and to the strains of it the bridal couple, with their maid of honor, and Bruce Moore, who acted as best man, took their places under the archway, where the wedding ceremony was performed. Miss Bost softly played "I Love You Truly" during the short service.

The rooms, decorated by a bevy of the bride's school friends, Mrs. Heber Clewett, Mrs. Dave Wilson, Miss Mildred Bost, Miss Ruth Cline and Miss Marjorie Long, were bowered of loveliness, pink carnations, Cecile Bruner roses, baskets of golden coreopsis being the chosen flowers.

Following the ceremony the wedding supper was served, the bride cutting the first slice of the wedding cake, while receiving the happy congratulations of the assembled guests. Later the beautiful gifts were viewed, cut glass and silverware, with many pieces of linen, china and pictures testifying to the esteem in which the young couple were held by their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Manker will make their home on the Taylor ranch on the State highway.

Mrs. Adolph Landis was pleasantly surprised yesterday evening at her home on Third avenue, when a few friends gathered there to wish her a happy married life and shower her with miscellaneous gifts.

After the first excitement was over gifts were unwrapped, showing many beautiful ones, which Mrs. Landis was delighted with. Refreshments were served, ending a merry evening.

Among those present were Miss Meta Ruth, Miss Pearl Ledig, Miss Gertrude Eymann, Miss Ruth Horsch, Miss Esther Krebhel, Miss Martha Loganbill, Miss Minnie Schmidt, Miss Linda Schmidt, Miss Ruth Voth, Miss Amanada Hirschler, Miss Martha Camp, Miss Metta Niswander and Miss Alida Dahlem.

EVENING PARTY AT URBITA SPRINGS

In honor of Chester Berglund, a student of Chaffey Junior college, who is leaving this week for his Summer holidays, Miss Maude Dinger was hostess at a very delightful evening out-of-door party, given at Urbita Springs last Thursday.

Leaving here at 7:30, the guests motored to Urbita, where tables had been reserved for them, and a delicious meal enjoyed, the rest of the evening being spent in swimming, dancing and other amusements.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Glenn Birdsey of Ontario acted as chaperones, and the affair was one of the prettiest, as well as most enjoyable, that has been given for some time.

The dainty organdy gowns of the girls were of varied colors, harmonizing with one another, and yet no two alike.

Miss Dinger wore a delicate apricot shade, Miss Esther Anderson a sky blue, Miss Emma Klusman a dainty pink color, Miss Unice Belle Standles looked charming in white, Miss Julia Perkins in wonderful Nile green, and the chaperone, little more than a girl herself, in a gown of the color of the exotic orchid. Picture hats completed the costumes, which were the admiration of every one.

Beside the guest of honor, Chester Berglund, other guests were Hugh Bruck, Vick Butler, Richard Treadway, F. H. Conley, T. Glenn Birdsey and Cleo Fuller.

G. T. CLUB GUESTS OF POMONA HOSTESS

Mrs. N. I. Hamer was hostess last Saturday afternoon to the members of the G. T. Club at her pretty home in Pomona. The guests all motored over and spent a very pleasant time, Miss Hamer contributing to the entertainment with a charming song, and later playing a duet with Miss Bryan, an Upland guest.

Toward the close of the afternoon Mrs. Hamer served delicious refreshments. The club members greeted a new addition to their circle, Mrs. Louis Kronmeyer, Sr., being admitted at this meeting.

Other members and guests present were Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Roy Wisley, Mrs. J. E. Hamilton, Mrs. Anna Myers, Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mrs. George B. West and Mrs. Jas. Howard of Pomona.

AT AFTERNOON AFFAIR

Mrs. C. F. Tyler was hostess at a very pleasant Kensington party last Friday afternoon at her home on Third avenue, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. William Mielke, of Pomona.

Lovely flowers added to the attractiveness of the rooms, and the time passed quickly in fancy work, refreshments being served at the close of a delightful afternoon.

The guests invited to meet Mrs. Mielke were Mrs. Gus Anderson, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Hjalmar Anderson, Mrs. F. B. Harn, Mrs. M. J. Gandolfo, Mrs. W. C. Riley, Miss Luella Anderson and Miss Esther Anderson.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MISS ETHEL OLSON

Mrs. Carl Olson entertained last Friday afternoon at her home on 8th avenue in honor of her daughter Ethel, whose birthday anniversary occurred on that day. Several girl friends were asked to help celebrate and a very jolly afternoon was spent in games. Refreshments, in which a lovely birthday cake beautifully decorated, was the chief feature, were served at the end of the merry time. The invited guests were Melba Arnold, Ruth Coe, Ruth Clark, Irma Creighton, Olive Adele Granger, Louise Henry, Ruth Harms, Bessie Reed, Emily and Ruth Sheneberger, Dorothy Thompson and Ida Katherine Vernon.

MISS COOPER TO WED NEXT SATURDAY EVENING

The marriage of Miss Ruth Cooper to Don D. Reeder will take place next Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cooper, on East 10th street. The young couple will make their home in Pomona at the Hotel Avis, of which hostelry Mr. Reeder is manager.

ONTARIO CLUB GUESTS AT THE SYCAMORES

The members of the Halfhill Girls' Club of Ontario had a most delightful dinner followed by dancing last night at The Sycamores, when twenty-four of them motored to Red Hill to the pretty hotel nestling in the shadows of the big trees.

Dinner was served in the dining room at seven o'clock, and later the guests enjoyed dancing on the smooth floor to good music.

This was not a regular meeting of the club, but an "extra special" which was thoroughly enjoyed and ended with hopes that another such delightful evening may soon take place.

Those enjoying the dinner were: Mrs. J. M. Halfhill, Mrs. Clarice Bently, Mrs. Mollie Lund, Mrs. Deborah Gillette, Mrs. Anna Westfall, Mrs. Edna Mitchell, Mrs. Jessie Powell, Miss Rose Wershing, Miss Marie Rowe, Miss Mabel McClelland, Miss Mary McClelland, Miss Corrine McClelland, Miss Grace Humphrey, Miss Pearl Osborne, Miss Ann Stekel, Miss Irene Webb, Miss Lucille Joss, Miss Frances Mueller, Miss Ruth Shoemaker, Miss Lucy Millard, Miss Marie Millard, Miss Myrtle McNea and Miss Loretta M. Moeller.

MR. AND MRS. EICHELBERGER ENTERTAIN AT STONY HURST

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eichelberger of Los Angeles, who have recently built a country home on Mountain avenue, within a mile of the entrance to San Antonio Canyon, celebrated the completion of their residence by motoring out from Los Angeles last Sunday with a score of friends to whom they extended the hospitality of "Stony Hurst" in a very charming manner.

Mr. Eichelberger, who is president of the Pioneer Paper Company, has had citrus interests here for many years, and last year gave out plans for a delightful country home to be built on his Mountain avenue property.

With those competent caterers Mr. and Mrs. Holt of Los Angeles, and their capable assistants to supply the needs of the inner man after the drive from the city, and the glorious view of the hills and valley from the house, the guests thoroughly enjoyed the day, and motored back to Los Angeles with their hosts in the evening pleased and delighted.

To the regret of Mr. and Mrs. Eichelberger, four of the guests were unable to be present at the jolly event, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Wilson, who own property on Wilson avenue, and are at present on a motor trip through the Yellowstone Park; and F. L. Baker, president of the Southern California Automobile Club, and his wife, who were called suddenly to New York.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hunt, Willis Hunt, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Willard Doran, M. and Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Waters, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pauly, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cary Dunlap, Miss Sue Betty Dunlap, Mrs. Willis Booth and Miss Mollie Adella Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Eichelberger with their son and daughter, Harry and Miss Margaret, leave tomorrow for Colorado and Glenn Wood Springs and the Grand Canyon, where they will spend the next month.

CHAPTER MEMBERS MEET WITH MRS. C. H. WIMPRESS

Twenty members of La Estrella Auxiliary of the Upland chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. C. H. Wimpress of Vernon drive for a short business session. Plans were made for the sewing for the coming winter, the auxiliary at present being busy with needlework for the Masonic home at Dekota, Cal. It was also decided not to hold any sewing meeting during the months of July, August and September. After the business had been disposed of a social hour was enjoyed, during which the hostess served refreshments.

128 GRADUATE FROM CHAFFEY UNION HIGH

Chaffey auditorium was crowded last Friday night by friends and relatives of the graduating class of 1921 when 128 students received their diplomas and presented a very interesting program.

To the rhythm of spirited music played by the orchestras of C. U. H. S. and Chaffey Community, the class marched, for the last time as seniors, down the aisle to the platform, where the girls all in white gowns and the boys in dark suits, seated themselves for the evening's entertainment.

Rev. J. B. Toomey of the Ontario Congregational Church pronounced the invocation, and was followed by Miss Hazel Rider, who rendered one of Chopin's waltzes in a perfect manner, giving her audience a great deal of pleasure. An excellent oration on "Franklin K. Lane," by Ellis Hampton, was listened to with interest, and Miss Benita Spencer took for her subject "American Men of Letters," which she gave in a clear, concise way, showing a deep knowledge of the topic.

Music again pleased the audience, a sextet including Miss Irma Jacobs, Miss Lyle Merchant, Miss Edna Ledig, Miss Geraldine Norton, Miss Marjorie Lynch and Miss Eva Dixon being one of the treats on the program.

Miss Neva Allison's address on the "Music of the American Indian," illustrated with examples by Prof. Blakeslee at the piano, was an unusual subject and eagerly enjoyed. A pleasing vocal duet by Miss Marjorie Lynch and Miss Edna Ledig followed, and DeWitt Reeder gave a most interesting account of the life and works of one of the greatest men America has ever produced—Theodore Roosevelt.

The program closed with a song by Miss Irma Jacobs. Mr. Hill then read a telegram just received by him from E. C. Harwood from Boston, Mass., expressing his regret at not being able to be present at the commencement of 1921 class of graduates and sending his congratulations to each member with good wishes for their future success.

The class was then presented to M. E. Hill, principal of Chaffey Union High school, by Miss Arlys Bradley, president of the class, who in a simple speech told of what the class had gained in their four years at Chaffey and how much each one of them realized what they owed to Mr. Hill's influence in the school.

Mr. Hill's acceptance of the class and his presentation of the students to T. E. Nisbet for diplomas was the next event of the evening, followed by a cordial speech from Mr. Nisbet and the filing by each graduate to receive the "sheepskin."

With more orchestral music, the commencement was over, and graduates were clustered round by friends and all received hearty congratulations on the result of the four-year course and good wishes for their entrance into life as college or business people of affairs.

SUMMER VACATIONAL BIBLE SCHOOL JUNE 20 TO JULY 15
A Summer vocational Bible school began yesterday, and will continue four weeks. It will be held daily from Monday to Friday from 9 o'clock in the morning until a little before noon in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.

Miss Glyda Kistner will have charge of the kindergarten. Boys and girls from 4 to 6 years of age are invited into this department. Bible stories will be told, Bible verses memorized, songs learned. There will be also regular kindergarten hand work. Miss Kistner comes to us from successful experience in the Central school of Ontario and in Sunday school.

Miss Jessie Brown will have charge of the primary boys and girls of from 7 to 9 years of age. Miss Brown is well known to us all as a popular teacher in our 10th street school and in the primary department of the Sunday school of Methodist Church.

More advanced work on Bible books and Bible lessons will be given these, also the memorizing of appropriate parts of the Bible and some of the standard hymns.

As parents and friends of children, your help is earnestly solicited. Please help by interesting the boys and girls by sending them to this school of opportunity for these few days. Actually more time will be had for the learning of the lessons of the Bible and character building on its teachings than in a whole year of Sunday school. Help make this first Summer vocational Bible school in Upland a great success. Larger things for the future are dependent on this success.

GO'Y FARM ADVISOR EXPLAINS JUNE DROP

June drop was explained by R. L. Hodgson, Los Angeles County farm advisor, in an address recently, and a possible remedy was prescribed. Hodgson, one of the best known authorities on agriculture in Southern California, recommended sub-soiling and Summer cover cropping as likely to overcome the June drop. He said: "It being recognized that the June drop was the cause of considerable loss of citrus growers, it was deemed advisable to determine its cause, if possible. Several theories had been advanced, the two most plausible of which were; that it was due to some climatic conditions and that it was due to a fungus growth.

"Accordingly, these two were investigated first. To determine if any fungus growth was the cause, cultures were taken from the fruits which had dropped or were about to drop. These cultures were taken from orchards all over the State. The surprising result was that in 95 per cent of the cases a certain bacteria, alternaria citri, was found. Hence it was thought that the cause was already discovered. But the next year the same experiments were carried on, and strange to say, only a very small percentage of the 'June drop' fruits showed alternaria citri. Hence this was not the only cause, though it seemed to be a partial one.

"To determine what, if anything, climatic conditions had to do with it, a section where 'June drop' was most prevalent and where the yield was the smallest of any in the State was selected. This was an orchard of 600 acres about six miles from Bakersfield. Here was an orchard eight years old, which had never produced a commercial crop. The climatic conditions were here extreme. By experiment it was found that the moisture content of the air was very low, so much so that about 10 o'clock each day the trees were unable to draw as much moisture from the ground as was evaporated by the leaves.

"By a series of experiments it was found that when this took place the leaves began to draw moisture from the fruits, these being the non-essential part of the plant. During the night the fruits regained a part, at least, of their moisture. Hence they acted as reservoirs of water for the leaves. But this process of alternately becoming dry soon weakened the fruit, and it dropped off. These experiments were repeated with the same results.

"But this did not prove the theory. To do so, fruit must be caused to set in this same orchard by raising the moisture content of the air so that this alternating drying did not take place. Accordingly, a tract of 40 acres in this same orchard was selected and alfalfa planted between the trees. Accurate moisture readings were taken, outside the orchard, in the clean cultivated portion of the orchard, and in the orchard where the alfalfa was growing. These readings showed that the moisture content of the air was so altered that there was as much difference between the outside air and the alfalfa planted portion of the orchard as there is between Tucson, Ariz., and Tampa, Fla.

"And all this in a distance of half a mile. The results of this experiment were very striking. While the clean cultivated portion of the orchard still continued to have June drop and little fruit, the alfalfa planted portion produced a heavy crop. The next year several areas in this orchard were planted to alfalfa, with the result that an increase of from 300 to 2000 per cent yield was recorded. The following year the whole 600 acres were planted to alfalfa, which resulted in increasing the crop of the previous year by 300 per cent. The fourth year's yield was twice that of the third. So the fact was definitely established that June drop was primarily due to climatic conditions, and that it could be controlled by increasing the moisture content of the air by use of a Summer cover crop.

"This Summer cover crop must be one that will cover the ground early in the Spring. As yet an entirely satisfactory one has not been found. One crop will do for one section, but not for another. Alfalfa is very satisfactory where there is good drainage and plenty of water. There is now being developed a new annual white clover which gives promise of being an ideal Summer cover crop, requiring less water than alfalfa.

"For your peculiar soil conditions sub-soiling is a very effective aid in the prevention of June drop. This acts by breaking up water pockets and allowing drainage, thereby preventing water logging and the consequent cooling of the ground. Thus the trees are enabled to start growth early and store up considerable food before the strain of the young fruits was put upon them."

MISUNDERSTOOD

Bill: "Did you see those autos skid?"
Jill: "Sir, how dare you call me that?"

The mother who raises children to respect her doesn't get her theories from books.

THE CIRCUS PARADE.

"We are to lead the parade," said the members of the band, "and we will play fine music to make everyone feel happy."
"They will be so glad that they are at the circus and will say, 'There is nothing like the circus after all.'"
"And then we will come along," said the snake charmer and the fat lady, "and everyone will say how queer we are. We like that."
"And they will wonder how I can swallow the sword," said the lady sword swallower.

"Then we will close," said the camels, "and we will have fine looking shawls upon our backs and humps. We are the Bactrian camels if any one should want to know and there are probably many who want to know this."

"Then we will come," said the elephants, "and beautifully dressed ladies will ride upon us."

"They will ride upon us too," said the camels.

"And we will march in the parade," said the clowns, "and as we go about the ring we will make funny jokes. We amuse the people and make them laugh. Last year we had some visitors with us. There was a great tall man who had made pictures and a very short man who made pictures too."

"That is, they drew funny pictures, and they knew that visiting us would help them to make still funnier pictures for us and so funny."

"Ah, but we will bark and shout."

"How-wow," the dogs said. "And we will wear fine ribbons on our collars and look very much dressed-up."

"We will march too," said the horses.

"And after that we will run races and a man with a big rope will see if he can capture us all at one fling."

"We pretend to be very wild. That is to make the circus exciting, but we aren't really wild at all. We're gentle and kindly and friendly, but it is our part to act wild so we do."

"We will fly about and come back to the lady's arm who trains us," said the pigeons. "It is true, she has two arms, and some of us will fly to one arm and the rest to the other arm. But we who are telling you about what we will do will fly to her right arm and so we only spoke of the lady's arm."

"In the olden days," said one of the elephants, "the circus used to travel by road. They didn't come by trains and my great grandfather told how he and his friends used to swim the small rivers when the rest of the circus was travelling over the bridges they came to, for if they had gone over the bridges, the bridges might have gone through with their great weight."

"That is an interesting bit of family history."

"When the circus is over the people will come and look at all of us," said another elephant.

"Yes," said one of the other camels, "they will all come and admire us."

"They will see me," said the Nubian Lion, "with my handsome big mane and my huge body."

"And they will see me," said the Sable Nigger Antelope from Africa. "They will be told that I do not make a nice pet but am rather cross. Still I am worth looking at, even if I'm not much on being a pet."

"They will speak of my beauty," said the Russian Brown Bear, "and I will stand up on my hind legs and look at them out of the bars of my cage. Of course I will look at them with my eyes but I will look through the bars of my cage all the same."

"And they will feed us peanuts," said the elephants, "and they will laugh as they see us wave our heads. The peanut man will tell them that the elephants can be fed at this time, and then he will make money selling his peanuts and we will be fed."

But it was time for the parade to start, so they followed the band, and all the people who saw them clapped their hands.

Added Excitement.

Jimmie—Maw, will you have paw buy us a houseboat to live in, just like the Jonses?

Mamma—Why, what's the idea? We own this home don't we?

Jimmie—But think, Willie Jones can fish off his back porch and go swimming whenever he wants to, and still be around home.

OLD, BUT STILL VALID

A Western newspaper offered a prize for the best answer to the conundrum, "Why is a newspaper like a woman?" The prize was won by a woman in Oklahoma, who sent the following answer: "Because every man should have one of his own, and not run after his neighbor's."

Some men work for a living and others live for a "working."

RAILROADS ADDED INSULT TO INJURY

The offer of the railroads to reduce freight rates on citrus shipments 10 per cent, provided that the growers refuse to send fruit East by the all-water route through the Panama Canal, was rejected recently by the directors of the California Citrus League meeting in Los Angeles. It was held by the directors that the acceptance of the offer of the railroads would be against public policy inasmuch as it would destroy the competition which is now offered by the steamship companies which are increasing the available tonnage for citrus fruit shipments.

Following the conference of directors, President E. M. Lyon issued a statement, in which he said:

"The directors were unanimously of the opinion that it is not in their power to prevent shipments through the canal; that such an agreement, if entered into, would be against public policy in that it would result in the suppression of competition, and that since no such condition has been attached to any other rate reductions, this proposal is discriminatory against the citrus industry, which should always be free to reap the benefits of lower transportation costs via the canal.

"The directors were unanimously of the opinion that consent should not be given by the industry to an increase in carload weights, in view of the voluntary co-operation of the industry with the Government and the railroads since the beginning of the war in loading the cars to or beyond the limit of safety in order to conserve the car supply so that war materials could be moved to the seaboard.

"In extending this voluntary co-operation, which added $100 to the gross earnings per car, while the proposed reduction amounts to only $72 per car, the industry has always expected, as a matter of equity, that the lines would give consideration to the heavier loading in the readjustment of the rates. No such consideration appears to have been given. Compared with other rates, the reduction does not give consideration to the citrus industry for the volume of its tonnage, the regularity of its movement, and its heavy loading of cars."

A committee was appointed to confer again with representatives of the railroads to request greater reductions, these to be considered as a "temporary rate, subject to a further reduction at such times as the finances of the railroad lines that handle the citrus fruit traffic permit, and that any reduction be made immediately effective."

The league committee consists of E. M. Lyon of Redlands, president of the league; C. C. Teague, Santa Paula; J. A. Stewart, Redlands; E. G. Dezell, Los Angeles, and G. Harold Powell, Los Angeles.

Those on the traffic committee are W. G. Barnett, A. S. Edmonds and G. W. Luce.

First Medical College.

The first medical college in the western part of the United States was Rush Medical college, founded in Chicago in 1837 by Dr. Daniel Brainard, who was born in Whitesboro, N. Y., 100 years ago, May 15, 1812. Rush college commemorates the name of Dr. Benjamin Rush, who was born near Philadelphia, of Quaker parentage in 1745, according to the Indianapolis News. Doctor Rush served as an apprentice to a Philadelphia physician for six years and then completed his medical education in Edinburgh, London and Paris. He was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, one of the founders of the first American antislavery society and the greatest physician of his day. During the yellow fever scourge in Philadelphia, in 1793, he visited more than 100 patients daily.

Cause of Seasickness.

It has been established by the satisfaction of scientists who have made a study of it that seasickness is caused by abrupt disturbances of the static sense, whereby we are enabled to maintain our proper position in space, the location of which is in the ear. These abrupt disturbances consist of violent oscillations of the fluid contained in the semicircular canals of the ear. The fluid is banged against one end of the canals and then the other by the irregular movements of the ship; the effect of this jarring and banging is telegraphed to the brain and nervous system by delicate nerve filaments and results in the various obnoxious symptoms which we group under the name of seasickness.

The Modern Poet.

He wears his hair long and a flowing necktie; his trousers bag at the knees, and there is slouch on his coat collar. In addition to that he writes unintelligible stuff from which it is impossible to gather either sense or music—therefore he must be a poet.

Not Time Yet.

The Slacker—Take my word for it, it's not necessary to do half the work you do; take things easy.

The Worker—Only after a man has done something worth while can he afford to while away his time.

Anyway, a "gay dog" is seldom the under dog.

GREATEST OF ALL MACHINES

Human Heart Has Capacity Which All Modern Ingenuity Has Found It Impossible to Outdo.

The pulse of the great Napoleon is said to have made only fifty beats a minute. Eighty is not an unusual number.

But, supposing the case of a heart that beats 75 times a minute, expelling ten cubic inches of blood at each "stroke." It is apparent that the little pump delivers 45 cubic inches in one hour, or (as may be easily reckoned) about 7,000 tons of vital fluid in a twelvemonth.

In figuring this out, the Scientific American calls attention to the fact that a human heart has four compartments—two auricles and two ventricles. The auricles are merely reservoirs. The energy developed by the pump is furnished by the right and left ventricles—the right one sending impure blood to the lungs and the left one forcing the purified blood into circulation.

The left ventricle alone uses in a day enough energy to raise one ton 30 feet.

All the blood pumped by one heart engine in one year would suffice to fill a tank 61 feet long, 61 feet wide and 61 feet high. Or, if the tank were cylindrical and 50 feet in diameter, it would have to be 115 feet high in order to hold the 1,700,000 gallons pumped by a single heart in the course of a twelvemonth.

ARAB HORSE EASILY LEADER

Finest Specimens of the Race, of Which the United States Has the Best, Is Abundant Proof.

The tradition ascribing to the Arab horse extraordinary endurance is sustained by abundant evidence. As illustration, a 300-mile test was made in 1919 from Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, to Camp Devens, Massachusetts, and the first horse to finish was a pure-bred Arab mare named Ramla, which made the distance in 57 hours, 26 minutes and 30 seconds; the animal placed second was Kingfisher, three-fourths Arab and one-fourth thoroughbred. The animal that finished third in the endurance test was also a pure-bred Arab mare, and the one to finish fourth was a three-fourths grade Arab, the dam of Kingfisher.

In the army tests of 1920 the Arabs again made a remarkable showing.

H. K. Bush-Brown, who presented the case for the Arab in the Journal of Heredity, offers an explanation of the extraordinary endurance of animals of this breed, based in part on the fact that the Arab has only five lumbar vertebrae (between the ribs and the pelvis), while all other families of horses have six. This difference in structure is believed to explain why the Arab, though small, can carry great weight. The anomaly illustrates the relation between structure and function.—Hearst's International.

MORE THAN MERE BUSINESS

Modern Railroad Has Been Litled to a Sphere Little Short of the Miraculous.

A cycle of railroad history has revolved before our very eyes. Three epochal golden spikes (at least) have been hammered in by (at least) three different men.

What is probably to be the last great "trunk railroad" in North America is being built by the United States in Alaska. This "government railway" had its first spike, by Martha White, on April 29, 1917.

Another gold spike was driven on that momentous day, May 10, 1869, near Ogden, Utah, when the transcontinental Union Pacific line was completed, uniting beyond question of chance the fortunes of the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the republic.

The gold spike custom (or habit as it came to be with the irrepressible builders of the continent) began in 1852 to assume significance. For upon Christmas eve, not only the nation's but the world's first "trunk line" was completed at a little forgotten hamlet near Wheeling, W. Va., Roseby's Rock. The romance of railroads! Who that lies him down to slumber in New York intending and expecting to arise refreshed in Chicago, can dare affirm that railroading is a business, a commercial enterprise? It is, rather, a miracle, an Aladdin's phantasy.—Christian Science Monitor.

LIKE PAGES FROM HISTORY

Deeds of Modern Greeks Similar to Those of Their Ancestors of Many Centuries Ago.

Greeks are reported to be cossing over into Asia Minor to resist the forces of Mustapha Kemal's army and take possession of the territory given them by the treaty of Sevres, an expedition which recalls the memorable crossing of this people 3,000 years ago, the subsequent siege of Troy, and the story of the wanderings of Aeneas, the historic founder of the early Roman race.

About an hour from the sea, near the Barinacelles, the ruins of the ancient city of Troy stand upon an ancient plain looking out over the plains where her immortal sons fell in her defense. At its foot the Scamander winds to the sea, says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

Excavations on the site have revealed nine cities, built one upon the top of the other in times past. The sixth from the bottom of these is the Troy of which Homer and Virgil sang. Today there stands little to tell of the might of the former Priam and Paris and the splendor which the beautiful Helen caused to be tumbled into dust.

Saccharin Discovered by Accident.

Saccharin, 500 times as sweet as sugar, and much in demand during the war, was discovered, according to the Basler Nachrichten, by an instructor in Johns Hopkins university. The story runs as follows:

In the summer of 1878 the discoverer, C. Fahlberg by name, was trying to restore certain organic bodies. At the dinner table at the close of a busy day he noticed that a piece of bread tasted uncommonly sweet. It occurred to him at once that the sweetness came from his hands, though he had carefully washed them before sitting down to eat. He hurried back to his laboratory and tasted all the glasses he had used in his experiments. One of them he found exceptionally sweet. He analyzed the remaining drops and found that they were a derivative of benzol. In 1884 he set up an experimental factory for the manufacturing of saccharin in New York.

Kidnapers are going to have a hard time if they bother Paul Everitt Collins, three years old, of Denver. He climbed upon the stool in front of the camera at the central police station the other day and was photographed. Then he thrust his fingers into the recording ink and impressed his finger prints for the Bertillon records.

But he is not a criminal. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Collins, who recently adopted him, were with him, and they assured that these records be made to insure him against kidnaping. Both said they feared some one might attempt at some time to take him away from them. The records will be filed with the police at the county recorder's office, they said.—Rocky Mountain News.

Everyday Allusions.

A lot of people believe today that the expression "Mad as a March Hare" has something to do with the queer antics of one of the characters in Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

The truth is, that the saying is based upon popular usage of a natural history fact. In the month of March, which is their mating and breeding time, the hares of our fields and those of England, Belgium and other countries where these rodents abound, become victims of fits which at times send them bounding like wild things through the woods and across the meadows.

To be as "Mad as a March Hare" does not mean insanity, but irrationality, a stage of mental effluence that will make people act as though they had lost a proper sense of proportion, without, however, having their mental abilities permanently impaired.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

First Papier Mache.

The durable substance made from wood pulp called papier mache is claimed by Germans to be the invention of one Martin, a snuff-box maker of Nuremberg, about 1740. While recent researches have confirmed the fact that he made the first papier mache snuff boxes, they disclosed that the method itself had been taught him by a Frenchman named Lefevre.

Baskerville, the Birmingham printer, became interested in the process in 1745 and laid the foundation for what later became a great industry. After a while the Germans again took it up and until about twenty-five years ago had a virtual monopoly of it. Then England and America attacked the problem in earnest and have since made millions out of it.

Red Honey of Brazil.

In Brazil lives a wasp which produces red honey, which is described as poisonous. Also in Brazil there is a stinging bee whose honey is sour if obtained from certain flowers, and of good quality if obtained from what perhaps we might call sanitary blossoms.

Honey is the oldest sweet eaten by man, and bee-keeping and honey gathering is one of the old industries of the world. Honey was eaten in Europe for centuries before sugar was sold by apothecaries or herbalists as a medicine and as a thing to make other medicines less unpalatable.

The Water Spider.

A correspondent of English Country Life describes a peculiar spider that lives under water the greater part of its life. It builds a dome-like nest of silk among weeds in ponds and ditches, and fills the nest with air. In that strange house it lives and lays its eggs. In autumn it makes another nest at a greater distance below the surface of the water, and, having sealed itself inside, it sleeps until spring. Taken out of the water, the spider looks like any other, but as soon as it is put back, the bubble of air that it collects round it body makes it look like a ball of quicksilver. It is the only aquatic that has taken to a wholly aquatic life, says the writer.

DIRECTORS COUNTY FARM BUREAU MEET

The Farm Bureau directors' meeting was presided over last week by R. O. Price, vice president of the organization, owing to the absence of R. B. Peters, who was attending the meeting of the State Farm Bureau Federation in Berkeley, of which he is vice president.

The work moved along smoothly and much important routine business transacted, including the adoption, after careful going over, of the new constitution and by-laws for the County Farm Bureau.

This was a badly needed piece of work, for the old one was a broken down machine that would never hold up under the weight of such a big organization as the present County Farm Bureau has grown to be.

Dr. B. B. Crandall, head of the department of boys and girls' clubs, tried to resign, but was completely blocked in his efforts by the rest of the directors, who agreed, however, to make his duties as light as possible.

Dr. Fox, after giving a report of his work for the month, declared at the end that he had left the report of the successful completion of the Hesperia project to Mr. Ormand, assistant farm advisor, who has just returned from his honeymoon trip after wedding one of Hesperia's fairest daughters. Mr. Ormand rose to the occasion with great poise and declared that he had helped put over a lot of projects, but this was absolutely the biggest one he had ever put over, admitting at the same time, when pressed, that he had helped to bring it to a successful finish.

Deciduous Work.

Prof. Weldon, county chairman, told of the work being planned in the deciduous fruit department, and R. O. Price reported for the citrus department, of which he is the head. Both are actively at work on new projects now fully under way.

J. P. Coy told of the alfalfa weevil and his trip to Nevada, and urged that weed departments be formed in centers having these pests in order that they might co-operate with his office in exterminating them.

M. A. Kipf, executive secretary, reported that the bee keepers are thinking strongly of asking to be admitted as a department of the Farm Bureau duly organized along the plan of the other departments. This will probably not be for some time, as the various clubs over the county include some whose year ends January 1.

Home Department.

An outstanding feature of Farm Bureau work Wednesday was the meeting of the home department, which lasted the entire morning. There was the largest attendance and the keenest interest and the reports of the representatives showed the greatest activity and progress of any meeting this year.

Miss Harriet G. Eddy was present and praised the San Bernardino women's work and the business way in which they are carrying out their projects. She also gave a very interesting talk on the work being done over the entire State and incidentally stated that San Bernardino County Farm Bureau gets the best and widest and most understanding publicity of any county in the State.

The county to receive next highest praise is San Joaquin County. Miss Eddy says that the project plan of work is being carried out very successfully all over the State and the better people understood it the better they like it.

Several of the centers reported meeting where follow-up work is being done and the greatest enthusiasm prevails among the members of the home department. They are learning to plan and follow their plans, and that is extending beyond the projects into the details of their household work.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. M. A. Kipf, county chairman, and Miss Mary M. Richardson, county home demonstration agent, gave a short helpful talk supplementing and reinforcing what Miss Eddy had said.

Those present were Mrs. J. M. Phy, Highland; Mrs. Mildred Snyder, Whites and Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson, Summit Valley; Mrs. M. R. Kees and Mrs. A. R. Brown, Chino; Miss Josephine Kerrick, Mrs. Martin Preston and Mrs. M. J. Stockwell, Grand Terrace; Mrs. C. L. Jordan, San Bernardino; Mrs. S. U. Stewart, Del Rosa; Miss Harriet G. Eddy, Berkeley, and Miss Mary M. Richardson, San Bernardino.

Besides the reports made in person, several written reports were read which showed that it was not on account of lack of interest the other centers had no representatives.

Mourning Chevrons on "Beer" Suits.

When the "beer" suits last year, with a black mourning band on the left sleeve, the idea was considered very nifty. But they've beaten it this spring. The beer suits were broken out early this week, and they have three small black chevrons on the left cuff, each indicating six months of prohibition. The beer suit custom is indigenous to Princeton. Before the days of Volsteadism the suits—plain white "jumpers" and pantaloons—appeared, simultaneously with the black beer signs, and gave unique distinction to the seniors, passing their last spring in scholastic trammels. Also, there were some jolly parties in certain cozy corners in the classic shades of the collegiate town. And maybe there are now—but in corners that are surreptitious as well as cozy.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

SEEING ONTARIO Through Her Events

Five men were arraigned before Judge George R. Holbrook yesterday afternoon at the Ontario city hall following their arrest on bootlegging charges, two of the men being charged with violation of the city dry ordinance and three with breaking the county liquor law. Earl ("Pooch") Bybee, well known club proprietor and baseball club manager, and R. J. McDonald, a chef employed by him at 123 East A street, were arrested by local officers on the eve of their departure for Huntington Beach, where Mr. Bybee plans to open another restaurant. Following their arraignment they were released on payment of $300 bail each. Juan Mani, age 29, and Louis Morales, 38, both Mexicans, were arrested by Special Officer Charles Ward of the district attorney's office, assisted by Ontario officers, the former charged with conducting a place where liquor was sold and the latter with selling it. The establishment which was raided yesterday afternoon is located in the Rochester section to the east. The two were turned over to the sheriff in lieu of $500 bail each. Tom Parks, an Ontario negro, charged with distributing liquor, which he secured at the Rochester establishment, was also held for lack of bail. The hearing dates of none of the alleged bootleggers have been set as yet.

Ontario police were last evening asked to join in the search for Ursula Steinhilber, aged 18, who disappeared mysteriously Sunday night from the ranch home of her father, C. J. Steinhilber, between Ontario and Pomona, following a quarrel with her fiancé, Edgar Pierson, who is employed as a meat cutter in a San Bernardino market. Pierson yesterday denied any knowledge of the girl's whereabouts. The two spent Sunday in Los Angeles together, and upon their return to the ranch home are reported to have quarreled violently, following which the young man departed. Miss Steinhilber went to her room, supposedly to retire, but it was discovered yesterday morning that after taking down her hair and turning down her bed, which had not been occupied, she had fled by way of the window. Hairpins taken from her coiffure were found lying on the dresser, as were also the eye-glasses which she habitually wore. She was dressed in a blue silk dress, and is believed to have been without hat or coat. She is described as a decided blonde, weighing 130 pounds and 5 feet 4 inches in height.

Mortuaries will be excluded from all portions of the city outside the fire limits, which cover principally the business district, if City Attorney Ben F. Warner renders an opinion that such action can be taken legally, it was decided at last night's meeting of the City Council. Back of the proposed action is an effort on the part of residents of the vicinity to prevent the establishment by W. D. Richardson of an undertaking parlor at 530 West A street.

By action of the City Council last night all flags in the city will be ordered placed at half mast Friday, the day set for the funeral of Ralph

T. Kingery, first California man to be killed in action in the world war, whose body is expected to arrive here from France Thursday. All business houses will be asked to close their doors for the hour of the funeral. Young Kingery was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kingery, 818 East E street.

Upon recommendation of Miss K. A. Monroe, librarian, the council last night appointed J. S. Armstrong to succeed himself as a member of the board of trustees of the Ontario Public Library at the expiration of his term of office June 30.

Miss Margaret Robb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Robb, was found dead in her bed yesterday morning at their home, 318 West Grove street, at the age of 31. Miss Robb had been in poor health and under the doctor's care for some months, but her sudden death came as a shock. She had made her home in Ontario for 27 years. Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mabel Jacoby, and a brother, Garfield Robb. Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10 o'clock from Draper's chapel.

Mrs. Edith Walker Frank, wife of Curtis J. Frank, died yesterday morning at Ancona farm, their home in South Euclid avenue, following a long illness, at the age of 44. She is survived also by two daughters, Anna Mary, and Martha; a mother, Mrs. Eliza Walker, of Glendora; two sisters and four brothers. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 from Draper's chapel, with the Rev. Winthrop Allison, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, in charge. Interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

From bootblack in Ontario to successful attorney in San Francisco all in the space of a few years is the somewhat remarkable record of Liberius E. ("Jimmie") Allmiste, news of whose marriage at the Fairmont hotel in the Northern city to Miss Iphigenia Vaslatos, has just been received here. With money accumulated at his Ontario shoe parlor and with the help of his brother, Louis, who took over his business here, "Jimmie" put himself through college, attending first Pomona college and then the University of California, where he completed the law course. Between college courses he returned to Greece and took part in the Balkan wars and the world war. Since his return he has built up a fine law practice in San Francisco, where he has many friends. The wedding was quite a society affair in San Francisco's Greek colony.

Trial of L. M. Green, motorist employed on the Euclid avenue line of the Pacific Electric, was today scheduled to appear for trial Thursday on a charge of driving his car across street intersections at an excessive rate of speed during heavy traffic. Green is alleged to have propelled his car across H and I streets at a rate of 28 miles an hour. The city ordinance calls for a rate of 10 miles an hour at intersections.

Music lovers of Ontario and vicinity are looking forward with eager anticipation to the first concert of the Summer season to be given this evening at City Hall Park by the Ontario Municipal Band. There are 19 artists in the band under the direction of Fred Wilding, Jr.
